Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer image file is deemed to be objectionable because it tends to promote and support the exploitation of children for sexual purposes. The file is an explicit sexualised image of a naked girl posed for the camera. There is no alternate reading of the image other than it is intended for the sexual arousal of persons with a predilection for children. It supports the notion that children are legitimate subjects for adult sexual arousal. The classification of this publication interferes with the right to freedom of expression set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990. However, this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention and is a reasonable limitation on the freedom of expression. The classification reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to limit the availability of publications that tend to promote and support the exploitation of children for sexual purposes.
